

Upon completion of the Information Systems Program, students will be able to:

1. Apply computing knowledge appropriate to the emphasis/discipline.
2. Solve problems in an information technology environment.
3. Demonstrate professional behavior and ethical conduct.
4. Demonstrate appropriate social and communication skills.
5. Analyze the local and global impact of computing on society.
6. Utilize data to help in the decision making process.